Street Fair 2018

Gardeners yearned for rain for two months. Churchgoers prayed for it. Local farmers were spotted in the fields wearing nothing but wellies as they did ritual rain dances. Their wishes were granted. As the first stalls were erected for this year's market the first drops of rain fell but Clapham folk have discovered that skin is waterproof so everything went ahead as planned and the occasional shower did not spoil the day.

There is no wonder they look so well cared for when you realise that every owner also owns a polishing cloth and seems to enjoy using it.

It was good to see the school involved in the fun of the fair as they offered activities for children including a coconut shy.

In the village hall the usual dedicated team of ladies served refreshments made by numerous volunteers.

As always there was a lovely atmosphere on this special day as stallholders from numerous charities displayed the food and crafts which they had made and visitors enjoyed the entertainment provided by Dales Jam, The Batty Moss Buskers and The Flagcrackers of Craven, a mixed Morris team which danced energetically and noisily to the amusement of our residents and visitors who came from various parts of Britain and abroad. The CRO offered challenges to braver souls and there was a superb display of vintage cars and motor bikes in the car park.

The day before the big event there was not enough water in the beck to float a ping-pong ball but the duck race went ahead thanks to the ingenuity of our water engineers who created a channel and ran this classic race over a shorter course.

In the evening the village hall was full as large numbers of helpers enjoyed a superb supper and a free raffle accompanied by wine and intellectual conversation. It was certainly sophisticated talk on our table as we debated the arguments for and against (Continued on page 20)

Church news

John's Notes: It's never too late

"I'd like to have my child baptised, but I haven't been baptised myself - what can I do?" It's not unusual for me to find myself in this sort of conversation, and the obvious answer often works for the person concerned: "Perhaps you should think about being baptised with them." Following a conversation of this sort I once conducted a baptism for four generations of a family's women - first the greatgrandmother, then the grandmother, then the mum, and then the baby daughter. And why not - it was great! And very meaningful and memorable for the family.

People's relationship with the Christian faith ebbs and flows, often in tandem with life events. When a baby comes into your life the awe and wonder of the birth prompts the desire for some sort of celebration, and many people, suddenly awake to the gravity of the responsibility of nurture are grateful for an occasion which invites the help and encouragement of others in the family and community. Baptism offers all that, and it can be the start of a person's new or renewed appreciation of the role of faith in their life.

The urge to find meaning in life is strong, certainly among our young, trying to build their identity and feeling that the material presented to them by youth marketing, Hollywood and social networking is never quite enough to fulfil all their desires. But people of all ages have unanswered questions, which some will keep searching for. The 'spirituality' shelves of high street bookshops are stacked to overflowing with titles offering succour, advice, self-help suggestions. A lot of this material draws on centuries of Christian practice - meditation and monasticism, healing prayer and iconography: all these are being rediscovered as helpful means towards understanding the inner life. 'Spiritual direction' - a one-to-one conversation of the heart with a wise and trusted other - is growing in popularity all the time.

When crisis hits - through an illness, or accident, the loss of a loved one - people rediscover prayer, find themselves looking for people or places to turn to for guidance and support. And in a global village where cultures and philosophies of all kinds rub increasingly together, many yearn for a mature understanding of life, embracing layers of meaning, maybe complicated and possibly conflicting - and most people on a spiritual search accept this complexity as a good, interesting, energising thing.

It's never too late to ask the questions; it's never too late to take new steps in life and faith. I myself was only confirmed at the age of 37.I welcome and encourage conversation and exploration of these questions: hence the ever-open door in all our churches for those seeking to pray, explore, learn, grow.

School news

The end of the school year has just passed and school has been a hive of productivity over the last few months. Our production of "Joseph and the Technicolor Dreamcoat" was performed in the Village hall on Wednesday 18th July and was very well received. It was the full production – not just highlights – and the children worked so hard to learn all the songs and dance routines.

The children receive their Silver Award from Herbie the Carrot!

The Year 6 children headed up to bonny Scotland to spend a few days exploring Edinburgh. "Edinburgh was an exciting place to go to. We had an amazing time at Dynamic Earth, the Zoo, the National Museum of Scotland and the Castle. It really was a great adventure."

Gardening Club worked hard to keep all the vegetables and fruit bushes watered in the exceptional weather. Before the end of term, we picked the red currants, blackcurrants and gooseberries. The apples will hopefully still be on the tree ready to pick in the autumn. We had a bumper crop of strawberries - usually eaten during break time!

Our gardening and cooking activities (including work with local farms) enabled us to renew our Silver Food for Life Award (last awarded 2011). The children worked hard over the last two years and received their award at a presentation in Northallerton.

The Friends of Clapham School are preparing activities for the Street Fair. This last week we said lots of goodbyes to different people connected with school. The Year 6 children are moving on to the next stage of their education; Mrs Yardy (NISCU) held her last collective worship before moving to the Isle of Man; and we will sadly say goodbye to members of staff.

Our Leavers' Service at St James' Church held on Thursday 19th July celebrated our memories of school life followed by a Jacob's Join in school.

Finally, the last day of term saw the whole school participate in our annual walk up the Nature Trail to Ingleborough Cave.

Before we know it, we will be back at school for another exciting year, when the Vikings might be invading Clapham!

Craven Accordion Orchestra

On Saturday June 30th, St. James' Church Clapham welcomed back the Craven Accordion Orchestra who once again gave a varied programme of music - from the lilting, soft, sounds heard in a Mary Poppins medley to the full rumbustious sounds of the James Bond concert suite. The variety of tone, texture and rhythms surprised those who had not heard the orchestra before, whilst those who had were not disappointed in their expectations. All were treated to a very enjoyable evening of foot-tapping music played by a wide age group to an audience of an equally wide age group including two children from America. The concert concluded with "Always Look on the Bright Side of Life"-a fitting ending to a perfect summer's evening.

Village playpark

It's great that the playpark is being so well used due to the good weather. Volunteers continue to keep it well maintained through regular mowing, litter picking and emptying the bin. One of the benches needs some repairs doing to it so if anyone can help with that please contact me.

B4RN will be working in the playpark for a couple of days in August laying down ducts to connect nearby properties. For safety reasons the playpark will be closed while the work is happening.

Steven Hopley 11 March 1972 - 12 July 2018

Horton in Ribblesdale, he then moved with his parents Beryl and Ian to Austwick. When he was ten his brother Simon was born.

Steven went on to Settle Middle School and High school, then to Keighley College to train as a joiner. He was employed in the family business "Hopleys" and worked there on the tools for a few years before joining his father in the offices. When his father retired Steven took over the business.

Steven and Fiona met in 2002 and were married in 2007, George was born in 2008 and Harry in 2010. They lived for 11 years in Eldroth - Steven bought the barn from John Airey and converted it himself, before moving to Keasden in 2013 to start a new project. Steven always wanted a project to do.

Steven's hobbies and interests included sled dog racing from 1994 to 2008 when up to 20 husky dogs were owned and raced all over the UK

- Steven won the European championships in Sweden. Time he didn't accept defeat. He fought to the bitter end with then to retire from sled dogs and spend time with his growing family! From a young child, he was a keen skier, his parents often took him to Scotland. Steven became part of the Keasden shoot and he enjoyed the social gathering as much as the shooting! Biking - Steven enjoyed weekly meets and biking trips to Wales, France and Morocco.

Steven was born in Keighley. Starting school firstly at Although chemo had weakened him, by acquiring an electric bike Steven could go out with the "lads" again. He considered being a pretend farmer, buying some cows and a bull because he thought they looked nice and he wanted to give farming a go!! Steven loved planning and taking holidays At Easter this year his treatment got delayed so the family took a last-minute trip to Wales – the > accommodation got booked and the family set off within the hour! Steven loved the outdoors (snow and cold particularly) and a challenge.

> Steven was diagnosed in January 2016 with Ewing's sarcoma - a rare cancer, he had a gruelling year of 14 rounds of chemo, seven weeks of radiotherapy and an operation. In 2017 Steven was cancer free and he worked on building up his fitness again and making lots of memories for George and Harry.

> Sadly, in January this year the cancer returned. He proceeded to endure further chemo but unfortunately the cancer got the better of him.

Steven never considered giving up as positivity and courage.

Fiona and her family extend their thanks to the Bexley wing oncology department at St James's University Hospital, Ward J45 where Steven spent his last few weeks, Cathy Wallace their assigned cancer nurse, whom they could ring anytime, Settle Health Centre and Settle district nurses, especially Julie and Sue.

Parish Council news

Clapham cum Newby Parish Council met on the evening The Parish Council met on the evening of 24th July 2018. of 26th June, 2018.

A written police report was received which set out details of a number of incidents dealt with by them in the preceding month or so. These included complaints with regard to travellers' horses, four road traffic collisions and two other road-related offences.

In relation to highways matters, the Council received requests for action in relation to the overgrown state of the footpath connecting Old Road, Clapham with Clapham Road, Austwick and the speed limit on the A65 between Clapham and Newby and asked for those matters to be referred to the appropriate authorities. It also noted that issues with regard to erosion by Keasden Beck posing a potential threat to Reeby's Lane, a cross-roads sign at Keasden Cross-Roads, the public footpath at Crina Bottom, travellers' horses and parking in Clapham Village had been reported or otherwise dealt with since the last meeting.

There was information before the Council to indicate that there has been some progress in the long-standing plan to restore the ornamental drinking fountain on Riverside, Clapham. An attempt is to be made to supply water to the fountain from Clapham Beck and pipe has now been purchased to facilitate this.

With regard to planning matters, the Council supported an application for listed building consent for external and internal alterations at Dubsyke and an application to carry out small scale excavations at Clapham Bottoms. It was noted that an application to replace an existing conservatory structure with a new garden room structure, to form a window and to construct a porch at Marridales, Newby, had been granted by Craven District Council and that an application to demolish an asbestos cement building and replace it with a new portal frame building on the same footprint at Home Farm, Clapham had been granted by the Yorkshire Dales National Park Authority.

For more information on the work of the parish council please click on the 'parish council information link at www.claphamyorkshire.co.uk Information on the website includes a list of councillors and their contact details, councillors' interest and minutes of past meetings.

There was a police representative present and the Council received a report outlining police incidents in the parish in the preceding month. These included a fatal road traffic collision on the A65, a sudden death, a burglary at a local cafe and campers lighting fires.

In relation to highways matters, the Council instructed the clerk to report severe potholing on Keasden Road above the crossroads and some apparently unlawfully placed signs elsewhere in the district. It was noted that the National Park Authority had undertaken to clear the path between Old Road, Clapham and Clapham Road, Austwick and that a letter to North Yorkshire County Council raising the possibility of a reduction of the speed limit on the A65 between Clapham and Newby had received a response indicating that this is not seen as feasible by the County Council or the Police.

The Council decided to commission a finger-post sign to be erected at the top of Henbusk Lane, Newby Cote. It is anticipated that this will be paid for by funds made available through Councillor David Ireton (North Yorkshire County Council and Craven District Council).

Updates were received with regard to the hyperfast broadband project, which is currently set for completion by mid-October, and the neighbourhood planning initiative. The Council was also made aware of progress towards restoring the ornamental drinking fountain. Pipe has been purchased to supply water from Clapham Beck.

There was a number of planning matters before the Council. The Council supported applications for the display of three map boards in Clapham Village, for a change to the initial plans in relation to a previously granted application for a development at Greenways, Newby and for the erection of a three bay oak framed garage at Wenning Hipping. It was noted that Listed Building Consent has been granted by Craven District Council for works at 2, Gildersbank, Clapham and that permission for tree works at 5, Clapdale Way, Clapham and Marton House, Clapham has been granted by the Yorkshire Dale National Park Authority.

The next Parish Council meeting will be in the Village hall on Tuesday 25th September at 7.30pm. Everyone is welcome The Parish Clerk & Responsible Financial Officer Nigel Harrison can be contacted by email: njhar1957@gmail.com or telephone 015242 51165

Fuel bulk buying scheme

Important Information

After eight years, and with another knee operation on the horizon, Glenys has decided to retire from running the Domestic Fuel Bulk Buying Scheme. Over the past years Glenys has been a marvel at haggling with oil companies and communicating with the scheme's participants, ensuring we get the very best deal for our domestic fuel. The number of contributors to the scheme has grown every year and at the last count there were nearly 100 households on the list.

The last oil order to be organised by Glenys will be in September. Then - unless someone comes forward to take it over - we will be on our own!

I know how much the work Glenys has done on our behalf was appreciated and would like to thank her from us all. I am conscious, too, that over the years many of you have found your own way of thanking Glenys.

If there is anyone who would like to take over running of the Domestic Fuel Bulk Buying Scheme please get in touch with Glenys. She would be very happy to show you the inner workings

Thank you

I would like to thank everybody for all the support and kindness shown to myself and my family following the death of my mother, Audrey, of Shepherd's Croft, Newby.

Thank you all for your cards, flowers, and messages of condolence which were very much appreciated at such a difficult time.

Thanks also to Reverend John Davies and Ian Greenhalgh for the lovely funeral service at St. James's Church, Clapham; to Sue Fairhurst for the beautiful flower arrangements in church; to Home Barn Foods and Bethel Chapel; and to Jimmy Macdonald of B & W Funerals for all his help, support and guidance during the arrangements. ### Who are Dales folk?

Prior to being badgered by a lot of people, I hadn't really thought a great deal about this question. Who are we and where do we come from? Both are questions that had never previously crossed my mind.

But after talking to a friend, who also happens to be a local councillor, over eighteen months ago I started to give the matter some thought. I was just finishing my Master's degree and a book about the Romans and looking for a new project. Since then, try as I might to consider other ventures, this question keeps being asked of me. It's like the whole thing has momentum of its own, and like everything that comes out of the Yorkshire Dales it is proving stubborn!

Over the next couple of years I hope to find out where we come from. I've already started scouring archives but I really want this to be a community project. I want us Dales inhabitants to do our own family history research and then share the findings. I know I've got Irish and Scottish blood in me as well as Yorkshire genes. But I want to know more.

I'm going to be taking workshops in the village hall, and lots of other halls around the Dales and I'll be encouraging and helping anyone who is interested to trace their family, to research where their ancestors come from and then, knowing what characters we all are and no doubt our predecessors were, I'm going to write a story.

If you have got any interesting stories from your family's history that you would like to share with me please email robertbullock721@btinternet.com or call me on 51898.

News from the farm - summer bleatings

year in order to set the new season's gathering dates and discuss maintenance of the fell pens plus any other relevant business. As you would expect most of the evening is spent eating ginger biscuits and drinking tea while we compare farming disasters, of which there are many and varied. We then move on to the weather and how terrible it's been. Next up is any current local gossip doing the rounds, some of which we add to which takes a while. Usually a bit of nostalgia creeps in as we discuss some of the farming characters no longer with us, like the chap who farmed on on the grass verge in order to preserve the tread and if he needed to cross the road - he took big strides.

The last Monday in June is the first Ingleborough gather and it is one of the fullest, longest days in our farming year. We are on top of Ingleborough mountain for 6am in order to make the most of the cool of the morning for dog, sheep and, of course, humble shepherd. To be on the top for 6 means leaving the farm at 5. Before we leave, the cows have been rudely awoken, milked and returned to their field wondering what all the fuss is about, the calves are fed and the milking area washed out. The only advantage to having cows that don't give a lot of milk is that it doesn't take a lot of getting. I like to think that at Bleak Bank we have huge potential because most of what we do is below average.

There are three gathering points, the first at Know Gap above Clapham, the second at Bleak Bank and the third at Cod Bank above Cold Cotes. If things have gone well we should be back in the pens with the sheep for about 8.30am when some of us sneak into the house for a bacon butty and brew while the dogs have a well earned break, mostly from frayed tempers and bad language.

Most of the sheep arrive at their correct gathering point because, like me, they know the way home but some do get a bit confused in the heat of battle and are easily led astray. They will appear at the wrong mustering point wondering what happens next, a bit like me in Asda. The next job is to mountain and the yard can be swept.

Those of us that keep sheep on Ingleborough meet once a return these sheep to their rightful owner and this is done during the "shedding" process when sheep are sorted into individual flocks. We have a rota system and one shepherd is responsible at each gather for making sure the stray sheep get home: they are in charge of "stragging".

> By the time all the sheep are sorted and have been despatched to their farms it is often knocking on towards dinner time and finally our yard is full of our own sheep and a few dogs, eagerly anticipating what might happen next. They love every minute.

Next, we separate the sheep with lambs from the hoggs. the top road: when he got new boots he walked everywhere A hogg is a lamb born last year, they are the equivalent of a teenager and have not yet experienced the joys of motherhood, unlike some teenagers.

> Our next job is to shear these hoggs and have them back on the fell for close of play. Nothing makes sweat drip off the nose end quite like shearing sheep. My Dad used to say it wasn't natural to have your head below your backside for much of the day and I think he could be right. We wrap and pack the wool as we go before it sold to the wool marketing board: often wool from the hardy upland sheep is sold to China where it is made into carpets.

By now it could be approaching dark, bearing in mind we've had a break to do the cow milking thing. Supper time marks the end of the day followed by a bath with about half a bottle of Radox, or whatever can be found. The trick is to stop pouring before the bubbles get over the side of the bath as this can lead to a public enquiry which never ends well.

The adult sheep with their lambs are left for tomorrow. The sheep are sheared and the lambs have a dose of worm drench as well as being given a mineral bolus. We like to leave them "inland" for a few days after this to make sure the family unit is secure. It is always remarkable how, in a field of a few hundred sheep, and often in minutes, each lamb finds mother, and I wonder if the lamb notices the new short back and sides mum is sporting.

By Wednesday or Thursday all are back up the

A secure future for Clapham C of E Primary School

Hello, I'm Michael Ravey, the Chair of Governors of Clapham C of E Primary School. I'd like to take this opportunity to update you on developments at the school. Let me start with the firm and happy statement: 'currently, there are no plans to close the school', so please put aside any rumours you may have heard to the contrary!

Of course there is the old saying that 'there's no smoke without fire' so, with this in mind, the Governors felt it was important to lay the facts on the table and, in doing so, rally the support of the residents for what we feel will be an exciting, new venture for the school, the village and our wider community.

Some of you may have seen the BBC's Country File on 1st July, which focused on the plight of rural education, particularly schooling in North Yorkshire. At a national level, the picture for rural schools is challenging with capped budgets, rising costs and dwindling numbers. Our wonderful school has been no exception. Governing bodies have to work hard to demonstrate balanced budgets and over the last year our management team, including the Governors and the Head Teacher, have worked closely with both the Local Authority and Diocese to try to achieve this. Inevitably this has involved some hard decisions, without which the tone of this article might have been very different. However, it has also opened the door to exciting opportunities and a drive to see our school grow and flourish.

The most significant of these difficult decisions was the acceptance of the letter of resignation from Mr. Matthew Armstrong the Head Teacher. The Governors would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank Mr. Armstrong for his professionalism, guidance and commitment to both the school and the students and we are certain that this is echoed by the staff, parents and, most importantly, the children.

We will also be bidding a sad farewell to Anne Pybus and her husband Bill who are retiring. Anne's steadfast commitment over many years as School Secretary has always gone above and beyond her immediate remit and she will be greatly missed.

Also leaving us is one of our temporary teaching assistants Lola, whilst Lorraine Wildman will be retiring from some of her duties. Our thanks go out to all staff - past and present - for their dedication and for the way in which they enhance and enrich the lives of our students.

Clearly, the school requires a Head and, as this is such a crucial appointment, the Governors have decided to adopt a considered approach. To facilitate this, we have made an interim appointment: Katherine Marshall will take charge of the school in September and will be with us for at least the first term. We are very excited about working with Katherine, who has been seconded from a large junior school in Skipton. Longer term, we are exploring a number of options regarding the future management of our school and whilst we are not, as yet, able to share any details regarding the progress of our contemplations, we can assure you that this restructuring will provide strong leadership.

It would be naive to think that rural schools will not continue to face challenges but we are working towards a strategy that we believe to be sustainable. A fundamental element of this is that we recognise the need to adopt a more outward-facing approach. There are already moves afoot! As a result of a very positive parents' meeting, a newlyinvigorated PTA group, 'Friends of Clapham School', has been out and about forging closer links between the village and school, and planning joint fund-raising activities. The school is looking forward to working in this more open way and to welcome others to share in school activities. We are also advocating for the need to encourage young families to move to the village and become part of our School, examining how better general use may be made of our school facilities and exploring possibilities of support or sponsorship from local business.

Clearly, this vision is in its infancy and is reliant on the continued dedication, enthusiasm and expertise of all concerned. Our school is a happy and excellent school, one that fully deserves its place in the community. Please support us in every way you can.

Finally, but equally important, we wish all children transitioning to new schools this year our very best - the foundations you have built at Clapham will set you on the way to future success. We look forward to welcoming new staff and students in September. In the meantime, a very happy summer to you all.

Happenings at Ingleborough Hall

We have been extremely busy at Ingleborough Hall during the latter part of the school summer term and have had two special events taking place.

The first was the North Craven Cluster of schools. This is the third year that we have run this programme for the local primary schools within the immediate area. Spearheaded by Mrs Pearson, head teacher at Bentham primary school, the 2-day event is for year 6 children. It is at a time when their SATs have been completed and they are about to leave their primary education to move to secondary school. Mrs Pearson's aim is to bring the district's schools together to allow the children to get to know each other before moving to their respective secondary schools.

Activities undertaken included caving, gorge scrambling, orienteering and on-site team building. Over 70 children and school staff participated. It was a successful couple of days and the children really benefited from having some time out of the school environment and making new friends.

Ingleborough Hall held its first Open Day for some time on Saturday,  $7^{th}$  July. Not put off by the football, we had a good turnout of people from Clapham village, our friends who resided at the Hall whilst it was a boarding school, previous visitors from the 80's and some that had been just a few weeks ago. We were truly blessed by the weather, as we have been all summer, which allowed for people to explore the buildings and grounds in their own time. A big thank you to all the staff at Ingleborough Hall for giving up their day and making this event a great success.

Anyone for tennis?

Some of you may have noticed a bit of recent activity on Clapham's tennis court. Thanks to Bernard Ashurst's generous work, the court is in great working order and all we need now are a few more players.

The court is owned by the village hall and, thanks to their generosity, some new tennis rackets have been purchased (two adult rackets and two children's) and a number of balls.

Ron has kindly agreed to keep these at The New Inn, along with a key to the court which will be available for a returnable deposit. For locals, we are suggesting a £2 charge to use the court (£5 for any visitors), with a signing out book for equipment.

Inspired by Wimbledon, we thought we'd have a go at getting the Clapham Tennis Club up and running again if there is enough interest.

We are suggesting a membership fee of £20 a year for family membership, and £10 for individual membership, which would include free use of the courts and free loan of the rackets, balls and key.

If you are interested in having a try-out, or in becoming a member, then please contact me.

Together for Trees

Trees are vital to so many aspects of life. As well as providing habitats for wildlife, reducing flooding and helping to combat climate change, we know that trees help to reduce stress, anxiety and promote a healthier lifestyle.

The Yorkshire Dales has just 2.7% woodland cover - much lower than the national average of 13%.

Since 1996 we've helped to plant around 1.4 million new trees, creating hundreds of new woodlands across the region, but much more still needs to be done.

We need your help to plant 100,000 native broadleaf trees over the next two years to create beautiful woodlands that everyone can enjoy. A donation of just:

- £6 per month could help protect and manage a woodland to allow wildlife to flourish.
- £15 to dedicate a tree in a young woodland.
- £40 could enable a disadvantaged person or school child to visit the Dales to take part in a woodland activity like bushcraft, tree planting or woodland maintenance, improving their well-being while ensuring that these habitats are understood.

You can find out more and support the appeal at: www.ydmt.org/together-for-trees

Oven roasted chicken

Ingredients (to serve 2)

4 tbsp* marsala (or white wine if preferred)

4 tbsp chicken stock

1 tsp Dijon mustard

1 tbsp olive oil

Free range chicken thighs or skinon, bone-in chicken pieces

20 seedless grapes

1 tbsp thyme leaves, plus a few sprigs for sprinkling Carrots and fine beans (depending on quantity required) Streaky bacon or pancetta to wrap above vegetables Maris Piper potatoes for mash, and a little butter Salt and pepper to taste

*1 tbsp = 15ml

Method

Pre-heat the oven to 200C(180C fan) and mix the marsala, stock and mustard together in a jug.

Heat the oil in a frying pan or in an oven dish that will go on the hob.

Fry the chicken, skin-side down, for five minutes to make the skin golden. Turn the chicken skin-side up, add the marsala mixture to the pan and let it quickly bubble up. Add the grapes and sprinkle in most of the thyme leaves. Bring back to a bubble, then transfer to the oven and cook for 20 to 30 minutes until the chicken skin is bronzed and crisp and the chicken is cooked through and tender.

Meanwhile chop some carrots into batons and cook on the hob in a little salted water along with the fine beans. When cooked (but still with a bite) remove and drain. Leave to cool slightly then bundle together and wrap in either mixed or separate parcels using the streaky bacon/pancetta. Place in a roasting dish in the oven to cook.

Prepare and boil the potatoes ready to mash with butter, garlic or mustard when you are ready to serve.

When the chicken is ready, remove from the oven, cover and allow to rest. Then put the juices into a pan and bubble for 2-3 minutes until slightly reduced and thickened to a savoury sauce. Pour around the chicken keeping the skin crisp, scatter with thyme (leaves and delicate sprigs).

Serve with buttery mash and wrapped vegetables.

Clapham Hyperfast news

The project to bring the world's best broadband to Clapham is drawing to a close. After four years of planning and over three years of digging, the final work is being done.

Homes and businesses to the east of the beck in the village are currently being connected and this phase will finish by September.

The project has installed fibre across the whole of the parish of Clapham-cum-Newby including remote properties such as Keasden Head, Ingleborough Cavern and Heigh Head.

The aim set by the Parish council was to give the choice of superfast broadband to every property and this has now been achieved. In fact, the project has gone further and installed hyperfast broadband from B4RN which is twenty times faster than the best BT service.

If you want B4RN but haven't yet asked, you should contact info@claphamhyperfast.net immediately.

The Clapham Hyperfast project will end in October and after that date property owners will have to deal directly with B4RN.

There will be an end-of-project party in November, details of which will appear in the next edition of the newsletter.

Shop news

Our community owned village shop held its Annual General Meeting on July 4th and those present were able to celebrate another successful year of trading.

Much of this success can be attributed to the hard work of staff and our volunteers. The value of the volunteering input, using the National Living Wage as a benchmark, amounts to a minimum of £41,000.

Thanks go to all who work in the shop. We have also had excellent support from our landlords, the Ingleborough Estate, and external funders such as the Kirkby Foundation.

A highlight of the year was receiving an award for Rural Enterprise and Employment from the Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust. The money received along with that award has been put to good use, enabling us to make a number of improvements in the shop.

Along with celebrating a successful year we did have the sad duty of saying 'goodbye' to two Management Committee members who have given sterling service to the shop but have decided to stand down: thanks were expressed to Denise Wilson and Angela Peach for their contributions over the years (and, as is the way of these things, to thank them for continuing to volunteer in other ways).

Finally, it was good to welcome two new Management Committee members - John Hibbert and Barbara Yates.

CLAPHAM & DISTRICT NEWSLETTER

The newsletter is a community initiative which shares news, announcements and items of interest. It is funded mainly from advertising revenue and relies on volunteers to get it together and distributed. The newsletter is produced in black & white, though we aim to produce one colour edition per year.

It is distributed free to the communities of Clapham, Newby and Keasden. Copies are available in the Village Store and local churches. Electronic versions are displayed on the Clapham Village website (in colour) thus increasing the audience by potentially large numbers.

The intention is that it's both 'for you' and 'by you', so we rely on submissions from readers and the village institutions which make up our community. The next edition is due out at the beginning of October. Copy deadline: 20 September.

Items should be around 300 words and, if possible, accompanied by a high resolution photo: we can be flexible so contact me. Contact: Andy Scott Email: claphamnewsletter@gmail.com

To advertise in six editions (one year) the costs are:

1/8 page - £17.50 : 1/4 page - £35.00 1/2 page - £70.00 : Full page - £140.00

Steam update

Just down the line from us (or should that be "up" the line?) the year 1968 saw the opening of the very first of Britain's preserved railways, the Keighley and Worth Valley Railway (KWVR). This year is its 50th anniversary and we here in Clapham have benefited with the movement through the station of a couple of the guest locomotives due to take part in its celebratory gala.

First through, on 19th June, was 'Black Five 45212' - a locomotive which is owned by the KWVR but on a long loan which often sees it used for the summer-long steam services on the Fort William to Mallaig line. At the end of that same week, she was joined by '46100 Royal Scot' which also passed through here.

'46100 Royal Scot' passing through Clapham on Friday, 22nd June en-route to the KWVR 50th Anniversary Gala Photo: Andy Scott

Meantime, the station continues to see steam locomotives as they head from Carnforth to Hellifield ready for duties on the Settle and Carlisle line.

The recent dry weather, however, has seriously increased the risk of lineside fires from stray sparks, leading to the majority of such excursions (and positioning movements) being diesel assisted. That way, the engines don't have to work so hard and thus it lessens the risk. It's not quite the same thing to watch a steamer passing through the station when she's facing backwards and sandwiched between a diesel and her support coach. But at least we're not paying!

Hopefully, it will not be quite so tinder-dry by the middle of August when the Settle and Carlisle line should see a number of tours to mark the anniversary of the end of mainline steam in Britain.

Three separate steam trains are due to tackle the route on Saturday August 11th with further excursions during the following week. The locos for these don't appear to have been finally decided yet, but '60163 Tornado' has already been declared unavailable.

The first proper steam charter that will pass through the station is due on Saturday, 15th September when a round trip from Carnforth via Hellifield and Blackburn is planned.

Village hall news

What a beautiful summer we are having! We hope to make good use of the fine weather to progress the refurbishment project, starting with the exterior work. The roof is badly in need of repair so work will start there soon. The heating system will also be replaced, as will the glass sealed units in the hall, followed by some damp proofing and redecorating. Without the contributions and grants already received we would not be able to start this work, so many thanks to all for your continuing support. More details in the next newsletter!

The village hall was pleased to host an evening with Ian McMillan and Luke Carver Goss on 6th June, which was a great success. We were entertained throughout the evening with songs and witty tales from the duo. This hilarious night culminated with an anthem dedicated to Clapham, which some of you may wish to sing along to again! Here's how it goes...

The Clapham Anthem (according to Ian) I can see the twin plinths of Clapham Sitting in the evening air But I see the plinths are empty In fact there's nothing there!

Chorus: On the left was a stuffed koala
On the right was a grizzly bear
Eating chicken tikka masala
Redacted chair – redacted chair?.. Redacted chair!

It happened back in 58 When Ian stole the notice Now Clapham's in a right old state It needs another poultice!

Ian was caught short In flagrante delecto It was his wife Respecto!

Can you all remember the tune? Or were you laughing so much at their antics - as I was!

On a more serious note, I'd like to draw your attention to forthcoming events in the hall. These include:

- A free show by local musician Kevin McSherry to launch his new CD (Saturday, 11th August at 7.30pm).
- A Photographic Exhibition (August Bank Holiday weekend) Settle Photographic Group.
- The Wills Project Exhibition (Saturday, 22nd September) the group has been transcribing the wills and inventories from Clapham Parish from 1541 to 1603.
- The Quiz Night (Friday, 2nd November) with quiz master Stuart Marshall.
- "Wrong Un" (Thursday, 15th November) by Red Letter Theatre (more info in the next newsletter).

Our AGM will be held on Wednesday, 3rd October at 7pm and everyone is welcome to attend. If you would like to get more involved in running the hall and planning new activities, let us know. We're always looking for new ideas. The hall is for the whole community to use, ranging from school activities and plays (the production of Joseph was superb!) to those many welcome 'coffee and a chat' mornings run by various groups. Facilities are available to book throughout the year.

Meanwhile, have a great summer - and don't forget to use the tennis court!

Wildlife in Clapham

Riverbank Cottage Orchard is a one and half acre plot of land below Clapham railway station. The land is a mixture of the beginnings of a wildflower meadow, a marshy area and a few orchard trees. On the embankment there is a mixture of hawthorn and blackthorn and by the entrance gate a small herb/wildflower garden has been created. A small selection of wildflowers has already appeared over the past year naturally, including primroses, snowdrops, bluebells, red campion, ox-eye daisy, mullein, buddleia and ragged robin, and there are also other wildflowers which I do not know.

In the past e i g h t e e n months sixty three species of birds have been seen on the site or flying over. Seventeen of butterflies and eight species species dragonflies/damselflies have also been recorded; of these one species of butterfly is a new record for the local area. The brown argus which was seen at the orchard on 28th May is a species which is spreading northwards slowly. It is similar to the northern brown argus, but that species feeds mainly on rock rose on sunny limestone/chalk areas and the few colonies in Yorkshire are sedentary. The brown argus feeds on wild geraniums which are common on field edges, railway embankments and other wild places. Both species are similar but it is through their different flight periods (the brown argus flies mid-May to mid-June and early July to late August, whilst the northern brown argus flies mid-June to late July), habitat and food plants that they can be separated. The brown argus was only seen on that single

Of the sixty three species of birds that have been seen, quite a few breed around or on the site. For summer migrants we get willow warblers (one pair and two juvenile have been seen this year), chiffchaffs, blackcaps, garden warblers (one pair) and spotted flycatchers (one pair) all of which are attempting to breed.

Seven of the eight dragonflies/damselflies are quite common on or around the orchard, but on 29th May a banded demoiselle (damselfly) was found. They breed on slow moving rivers which the River Wenning is when it hasn't been raining heavily. This is only the fourth record I have seen of the banded demoiselle around the local area in the last ten years.

The orchard is open to all locals who are passing by, there is a small seated area by the gate or the marsh/pond

Riverbank Cottage Orchard is a one and half acre plot of area, but beware there is still work going on beyond those land below Clapham railway station. The land is a mixture areas.

One spotted flycatcher was seen at Chrissie Bell's house twice at the end of June and one green sandpiper was seen on the River Wenning near the orchard on 15th July.

Postscript: Young Sophie Bowker from Kings Langley, who was on holiday here, spotted a red squirrel by the beech tree at Ingleborough cave on 31st May at 3pm with the sighting confirmed by her dad.
